*Papers and Theses Using India Human Development Survey (IHDS)

* Includes papers that rely solely on IHDS data as well as those using IHDS data in conjunction with other data sources

Arun, S., S. Ammin, and T. Arun. Do All Networks ‘Work’? The Mediating Role of Social Networks on Consumption Expenditure in India. Sociology.http://soc.sagepub.com/content/early/2015/06/08/0038038515583638.abstract

http://ir.library.oregonstate.edu/xmlui/bitstream/handle/1957/55646/Murugesan_MPP_Essay.pdf?sequence=1, Steinberg, Mary BM. 2015. On the Demand for Education in India. Doctoral dissertation, Harvard University, Graduate School of Arts & Sciences. http://dash.harvard.edu/handle/1/17467486

Kumar, P., Tripathi, N., Subramanian, V. (2014): Secular Trends in Menarcheal Age in India- Evidence from the Indian Human Development Survey,10(1371)

2012

Kharbanda, V. (2012). Returns to Education in India (Unpublished Work).

2011

Gaiha, R., et al. (2011). Obesity, affluence and urbanisation in India. ASARC/ SSRN

Gaiha, R., et al. (2011). Foresight Project on Global Food and Farming Futures Regional case study: R4 Diets, Malnutrition and Disease in India. Foresight Project on Global Food and Farming Futures.

